

The Power of Positive, Ongoing Communication

Family involvement is one of the best predictors of student success. Connecting families on Seesaw opens lines of communication centered on student learning and engages families to support learning at home.

Families See and Engage with their Child's Learning

On Seesaw, families see everything their child posts to Seesaw, which means they receive regular communication from their child's school that's centered on learning.

Families Can:

- Like and comment on their child's posts (If enabled by the teacher in Class Settings)
- Keep their child's learning year-over-year
- See all learning in one place
- Only see their own child's posts

Bonus! Students get so excited when they have an authentic audience for their learning and the quality of their work immediately improves.

Teachers and Families Message About Learning

With Seesaw Messages, teachers can share updates and resources, and families can reply with questions, ideas, or even photos and videos of their child at home.

Families Can:

- Receive Announcements from the teacher
- Privately message the teacher
- Include multimodal attachments

Language Barrier? Not with Seesaw! Families with devices set to a language other than English have the option to 'View Translation' in one click.

No More Asking, "What Did You Do Today?"

When families have a window into the classroom, families see what their child learns each day, which sparks meaningful conversations and extends learning at home.

Families Can:

- Ask their child about specific assignments, projects, and moments from class
- Try learning games and strategies from the teacher that reinforce learning
